qualified as administrate of the estate as to deposit $1,000,000 ibonds to cover the inheritance tax.

There were three rites to te-day's proceedings. The size, who seek letters of administrate as next of kin and assert that Mr Jamison's sons, Charles A. and Wlam A. Arbuckle are the only other size-at-law; Public Administrator Kell who asserts that both of the deagmillionaire's sisters are non-residents and that Mies Arbuckle's residence in Brooklyn since the beginning offer brother's Biness does not entitle T to be considered a citison of this tate; and Roxy Mr. Smith, William; Smith and James N. Jarvie as execute of the will of W. V. R. Smith as former partner.

It was the constitution of Arbert Stickney, reprenting the third set or petitioners, it the Arbuckle estate owed them ore than $500,000 for breach of coract. When the old Arrivockle firm was dissolved in April, 1906, and W.V. R. Smith and Jarvie got out the emaining partners—John Arbuckle at Charles Arbuckle Jamison—agree that the new firm should assume albutstanding debts.

Later, win the Government got judgment agest the firm for $600,000 on account oundervaluation of sugar ship-

Weber and Fieldae Tour.

After the Weber and fields jubiles performance at the Breiway Theatre last night Lew Fields good a meeting of the members of the supany to see if they were willing to hake a whiriwind tour of several was of the big cities. The question of thether or not a tour should be madewas put to a vote and every members the company from broilers to starsvoted in favor of it.

WHY IT

To Have Clogged Nostrils Your nostrils contain structures which filter the dirt and germs out of the air you take. If nature considered it necessary to place air filters in your nose do you think it wise or safe to draw the collection of filth they catch back into your throat? When your nostrils catch the germs they are tangled in the mucus of your nose like flies are held by sticky fly paper. When a certain amount of germs and dirt have collected in your nostrils they cause a desire to free them. You do this by the natural method of blowing your nose.

Proceedings before Surmate Ketcham regarding the estate fohn Arbuckle indicated that the alue of the property is somewhere ar $30,000,000.
This came out when Wam N. Dyckman, counsel for Mischristine Arbuckle and Mrs. Catifine Arbuckle Jamison, asserted that tey had so far qualified as administrate of the estate as to depost $1,000,000 shoulds to cover the inheritance tax.

Later, win the Government got judgment agast the firm for $60,000 on account oundervaluation of sugar shipments though oustgams, W. V. R. Smith and Mr. arvie were forced to pay their proporticate share on the ground that they hadrofited by the deception. They now cossed that the forfeited money was "aroutstanding debt" and want to secure ser interest in the estate until the pening suits are tried.

Mr. Dekman said that if there were any justes in the claims presented the clifus lay against the firm of which a partner, Charles A. Jamison,
